WHY KEEP MATERIALS OUT OF THE LANDFILL?

Two-thirds of our residential waste is comprised of yard debris, food scraps, wood waste, paper and paperboard products.¹ Waste reduction and recycling can reduce pollution, save energy, conserve resources, and reduce the need for new disposal facilities.²

Many common products that we use in our households contain potentially hazardous ingredients and require special disposal. A product is Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) if the label says: CAUTION-WARNING-DANGER-POISON. Proper HHW disposal prevents pollution that could endanger our health or the environment.
